PinballMiCRO

Micro-credential Program

PinballMiCRO is a fully funded, 10-week micro-credential program developed to upskill marginalized youth with essential employability skills.

Through blended learning, guided mentorship, and real-world applications, the program removes barriers and equips participants to confidently explore career paths.

PinballMiCRO stays engaged after training: the careers team connects graduates with employers, mentors provide ongoing support, and wraparound services remain available to help turn credentials into meaningful employment.

This program is part of the Essential Employability Skills Basics initiative, launched in collaboration with George Brown College to provide accessible, career-relevant micro-credentials to BIPOC and marginalized youth across Canada.

PROGRAM INCLUDES:

10
WEEKS OF ONLINE TRAINING

Structured courses blending theory and practice to build employability and job skills.

1-ON-1
MENTORSHIP AND GUIDANCE

Support from trained mentors to help students navigate coursework and career planning.

CAREER READY
EMPLOYMENT SUPPORT

The careers team is dedicated to preparing and connecting students with employers.

PinballMiCRO is one of five core programs by the Pinball Foundation designed to empower youth through education, mentorship, and career opportunities.
